It is connected with the interior and resident districts of the city by numerous cable and electric lines and steam railroads, and the number of visitors are yearly increasing at a prodigious rate. It is the resort of women untroubled and untroubled, and of those who attend at Sunday-school picnics and many other excursion and other parties. During the summer season there are thousands of women and children and school and other picnickers who resort to Forest Park for rest, recreation and enjoyment. "Ninth. And for divers other good and sufficient reasons apparent upon the face of said ordinance, plaintiff contends that the same is void.

Plaintiff further states that defendant Schwabach is insolvent, and that the injuries complained of are irreparable, and that plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law, prays the court by its decree to declare the ordinance and contract null and void and of no effect; secondly, that the said defendant and his agents be enjoined and restrained from selling whisky, wines, liquor or any kind of intoxicant or refreshments in said park, and from carrying out the terms and provisions of the said ordinance; thirdly, that any buildings erected or which may hereafter be erected by either of said defendants under the provisions of said ordinance and contract be abated, torn down and removed from said park, and that said Schwabach be ejected and removed from said contract and buildings. WILSON MURDER CASE.
The Taking of Testimony Begins This Afternoon.

The taking of testimony in the case of the State against Charles Wilson was commenced at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Criminal Court. Wilson is under indictment for murder in the first degree in the killing of Lara A. Davoust.

The deceased was a tailor. On the night of Oct. 29 last Officer Rieley saw Wilson run from the shop on Eleventh street, near Locust. The fugitive was overtaken at the foot of the Grant statue. An examination of the shop revealed Davoust prostrate on the place at the side of his cot, unconscious and bleeding from half a dozen gashes in the throat. Wilson was taken to the City Hospital the following day. Before he passed away he rallied sufficiently to identify Wilson, who taken into his presence, as the man who had cut him.

On last Monday the case was called and a panel of forty-seven jurors selected. The defense took the allotted forty-eight hours during which time the challenges were made. To-day the jury of twelve as announced consisted of David A. Adams, Augustus A. Bland, Joseph H. Brunner, John D. Clark, George Heidman, Julius Horn, Wm. F. Jones, Joseph M. Keeshan, Augustus A. Kline, Joseph H. Nitchman and Henry Noller. Dr. Dalton, Superintendent of the City Hospital, was the first witness to testify. He testified as to the condition of Davoust and subsequent death, and to the identification of Wilson. Dr. John W. Frank testified as to the holding of the coroner's inquest, the post-mortem examination and the ante-mortem statement made by Davoust. The latter was merely an identification, the patient being unable to speak on account of the character of the wounds in the throat. At noon, when Dr. Frank had left the stand, an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock on account of the funeral of Judge Van Wageningen.

Marshall F. McDonald, Circuit Attorney, called on the witness stand. He represented the State in the action, while Attorney T. S. Burnett appeared for Wilson. The latter testified that he was with Wilson at the shop for the purpose of robbery. Wilson will testify that he was with Wilson at the shop for the purpose of robbery. Wilson will testify that he was with Wilson at the shop for the purpose of robbery.

RAILWAYS AND THEIR RELATION TO THE PUBLIC.

The Question of Government Control—Benefits of Pools to the Shippers—Commerce and Finance—Telegrams From the New York Chamber of Commerce—The Day's Proceedings.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 18.—It was 10 o'clock before the Western States Congress assembled this morning. Bishop Hendricks opened the session with prayer. The day's programme was then immediately entered upon.

James Peabody of Chicago read a paper on railroad pools.

He said it was not so much low rates that the shippers wanted, it was stable rates. As tending to obtain stable rates the speaker endorsed the interstate railway commission. What the railroads wanted was not so much a great business as a steady business. The shipper wanted equality of treatment at the hands of all the roads, and the road wanted protection against the dishonesty of its competitors. These were the objects formerly attempted by the old pool. They were now being made possible by the operations of the interstate commission. But even now pools were necessary to maintain rates and to keep them stable. As such they were a benefit to the shipper as well as to the railroad.

Gen. Chas. W. Blair of Kansas read a paper on transportation as affecting commerce and finance. He said the basic principle of his argument was that the government should best which governed the best. Applying this principle to legislation as affecting commerce and finance, he said the government ought also to keep its hands off commerce and transportation and let them be governed by the market.

The following telegram to the President was received and referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

The undersigned President and Executive Committee of the National Association of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of St. Louis, Missouri, respectfully request that you will cause to be passed a law passed that would give the present commission the power to enforce its decrees. General debate on the subject of transportation was then opened.

Mr. William E. Schweppe, President of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of St. Louis, spoke from a standpoint of the railroad and had long been exploded that railroads were private property. They are now recognized as public utilities, and it is just and right that these trusts should be regulated for the benefit of those who use them. He said that the railroads were in building railroads if they had the money to do it, but he did not want the roads to be built by private persons at the expense of the public. Railroads should do no good. Rates should not be fixed by the railroad or the shipper, but by the Railroad Commission. He thought the federal government should control the traffic of the railroads just as it now controls the interstate traffic. He wanted a law passed that would give the present commission the power to enforce its decrees. General debate on the subject of transportation was then opened.

State Senator Cochran of Missouri spoke from a standpoint of the railroad and explained the difficulties in the way of their earning sufficient money to carry on their business. He said that the railroads were in building railroads if they had the money to do it, but he did not want the roads to be built by private persons at the expense of the public. Railroads should do no good. Rates should not be fixed by the railroad or the shipper, but by the Railroad Commission. MAKING UP THE SLATES.

FAVORITE COMBINATION FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES ORGANIZATION.

Another Meeting of the Democratic Members to Be Held to Ratify the Combine Ticket—Arranging for the Council Caucus—New Members Qualifying.

The eighteen Democrats who will control the next House of Delegates have held two caucus meetings, and they are called by those who participated, and within the next few days will finally decide upon the programme they will carry out next Tuesday afternoon at the organization. To all intents and purposes the slate is now made up, and the next caucus will be more in the nature of a ratification meeting. Two or three combinations have been proposed, but that which meets with the most favor and, consequently, has the largest following, stands as follows:

Speaker.....Thomas Ward
Clerk.....Thomas E. Barrett
Assistant Clerk.....John Russell
Sergeant-at-Arms.....Gibson
Ward is the member from the Twenty-fourth Ward while Bradshaw holds the Twenty-eighth. Barrett, who is slated for Clerk, served in that capacity before. Stussel is a German Democrat from the southern part of the city, backed by Joe Bauer, the new Delegate from the Fifth Ward. His name was presented at the caucus by Bauer, who argued that he was a material increase south of Chouteau avenue, by giving it some recognition. Mr. Townsend has since explained that the caucus was pulled up in the rotunda, and half an hour later the "divine Sara" slipped in at the ladies' entrance almost unnoticed. The support of the committee was not with her at the time.

THE LAURA FITTS CASE.
Attorney McDonald Wants the Specimens Now in Dr. Brokaw's Possession.

Attorney Marshall F. McDonald went into the Court of Criminal Correction this morning and made application to Judge Claiborne for an order on Dr. A. V. L. Brokaw, commanding him to again present in court the viscera taken from the body of Laura Fitts. This action was taken as a result of the complete exposure made in last evening's Post-Dispatch of the inactivity of Dr. F. L. James and his associates in the case of the body of Laura Fitts. The body was delivered by Sheriff DeLoach to the coroner's office, and by him removed from the sheriff's store-room to the Court of Criminal Correction. He thus obeyed the order given him twenty-four hours before by Judge Claiborne on the bench of the Court of Criminal Correction. Dr. James, the expert named by the defense, had failed to avail himself of the privilege accorded him to examine the specimens within the two weeks prescribed, and Judge Claiborne held that the specimens were not a proper place in which to longer keep the jar.

Bernhardt Arrives and is Quarters at the Lindell Hotel.

Sara Bernhardt occupies five rooms at the Lindell Hotel. The arrival of her train was reported at the depot at 9:30 this morning, and breakfast was at once prepared for her at the hotel. The breakfast table was set for her, and she was accompanied by two very talkative Frenchmen, drew up at the main entrance of the hotel at 10:30. The wagons were loaded high with trunks and boxes, and every time the transfer man dropped one from the wagon to the sidewalk the two Frenchmen swore. The baggage was piled up in the rotunda, and half an hour later the "divine Sara" slipped in at the ladies' entrance almost unnoticed. The support of the committee was not with her at the time.

Counting the Chicago Vote.
CHICAGO, April 18.—When the Election Commissioners resumed work on the official count to-day the friends of Mayor Cregier were ready to admit that as far as the canvass had gone, he had lost 124 votes by comparison with the semi-official returns placed in their hands this morning following the election. The Republicans lay claim to a gain so far of 130. Mr. Cregier's friends have now claimed a plurality for him of over 25, and a loss of a dozen more votes would wipe it out altogether. Four wards—the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth—were canvassed to-day before the board adjourned for lunch. Washburn lost nine votes and Cregier one in this morning's canvass.

It remains to be seen whether Premier RUDINI will be in as great a hurry to answer Secretary BLAINE's letter as he was to receive it.

If there is anything in current reports the Mayor's grip on the recently elected Councilmen will be thoroughly tested in a short time.

It is to be hoped that the President has provided for relays of speeches and fresh voices on his journey. He will need both at his present rate of talking.

THE application of CHARLES GIBSON for an injunction against the proposed transformation of Forest Park into a dramsoph is a movement in the public interest.

UNLESS the signs are misleading, the contest over the secretaryship of the World's Fair Board of Lady Managers will be attended by a great deal of scratching.

ANOTHER chapter was added to the volume of evidence concerning corruption in political committees by the POST-DISPATCH revelations in the case of the Kralenman-Lynan bargain.

THE poor farmers of the country who complain that they cannot get their rights from the railroads are doubtless pleased to note that the President can get whatever he wants from them.

FARMER INGALLS may become the Cincinnati of Kansas if he can only find enough citizens willing to have him leave his plow to save his country. He and his friends will have to hustle to do it.

THE POST-DISPATCH published convincing evidence yesterday as to the falsity of the impression that there is no pay attached to the position of a party committeeman. Mr. KRALEMAN seems to have made his place on the Republican City Central Committee pay handsomely in the Tenth Ward contest for the House of Delegates.

THE President is said to have taken his transcontinental tour chiefly for the purpose of feeling the Western pulse. He is likely to find it beating high with indignation at the spectacle of a President placing himself under a heavy debt of obligation for an expensive trip to one of the most powerful railroad corporations in this country.

THE men who are endeavoring to promote the formation of a new party propose to call their organization the Reform Party. No organization is needed to make the Reform Party felt in this country. There is a large and growing party of that kind in existence, and it will have something to say in the next conventions of the old parties and in the election of 1892.

THE fight between President BLAINE and Secretaries COVINGS of the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Fair has assumed an interesting aspect. President BLAINE, who apparently thought that to be President was to be boss, tried to rule things his own way, to which Secretary COVINGS, who held similar ideas concerning the Secretaryship, objected. The President thereupon, after the manner of a real man political boss, without consulting the Secretaries, called a meeting of the Executive Committee and notified the latter that she was to be tried, on certain unmentioned charges. The Secretaries, who have been in politics too long to be caught by this trick, snapped her fingers at the committee and called a meeting of the full board. Mrs. PALMER has secured the discharge of Mrs. COVINGS, and Mrs. COVINGS holds the books and the legal end of the controversy. It is as pretty a fight as could be expected of a group of charming but strong-minded women engaged in managing something.

BLAINE AND ITALY.

All the world, except the most hot-headed of Italians excited to a state of patriotic frenzy by misapprehension of the New Orleans affair and its international status, saw that RUDINI had blundered and subjected his Government to just such a reply as Mr. BLAINE has sent.

It is not often that the government of any respectable and prominent nationality requires such elementary instruction as Mr. BLAINE supplies in a firm but kindly and considerate tone to the new and apparently inexperienced Premier of Italy.

If it puts the latter in the attitude of a passionate boy learning too late that he has lost his temper over an imaginary provocation, and that his premature bravado was at once uncalculated for and futile, Mr. BLAINE has done it as gently and politely as the facts permitted. RUDINI and not BLAINE is responsible for Italy's discomfiture, which was assured from the moment she rashly assumed that the Italian victims of the New Orleans mob were treated otherwise than as native Americans would have been treated under the circumstances, or that our government would do less for them than for natives so maltreated. In acting upon such assumptions and jumping at the conclusion that the United States could be bullied with great ease by a shabby ministry, RUDINI has made himself the laughing stock of the European press, as the recipient of a deserved rebuke.

That Italy will not long stand such blunders from him is generally conceded. CRISP is after his scalp, and he will not dare to pursue the Mafia points of the discussion to which Mr. BLAINE is gently drawing him. The drain of the Driedubn upon Italy's resources, with a general European war impending, has given a formidable impetus to the Republican movement in Italy, and the House of Savoy has about all it can do to guard against that, maintain its chosen role in European complications, and take care of its troubles with the Pope and its strained relations with the French Republic.

THE FLEA OF SCOUNDRELISM.

When fifty-one of the leading advertisers of St. Louis united in a request to the newspapers to allow an examination of circulation to be made by a committee of experts the Republic refused to submit to that plain, fair test and gave as its excuse the plea that "no committee could either prevent or detect a fraudulent inflation of circulation to any desired extent if it should be attempted."

The publisher of the Republic is so firmly convinced of his ability to cheat and defraud any expert investigator by his superior expertise in forging and doctoring books and accounts that in his letter he recurs to the subject again and reiterates his convictions on the subject of triumphant rascality, saying:

"Every experienced advertiser at 'familiar with newspaper methods knows the fancy that an outsider can detect deception in the matter of either the character or volume of circulation by any sort of investigation, no matter how complete or comprehensive it may seem, is a mere illusion."

Yet when driven into a corner by proof of its lying and evasion, it says that an examination of its circulation was made a year ago by an experienced advertiser, that "all of its records and reports bearing upon the question of circulation were voluntarily exhibited to him," and that "he was earnestly solicited to pursue his inquiry through outside sources in the most thorough and exhaustive manner."

In other words, while the Republic asserts its ability to cheat and defraud any one who examines its circulation, and maintains that it is impossible for the most expert investigator to detect methods of cheating which it has contrived, while it proudly declares its faith in the effectiveness of doctored accounts, bogus books, and various other devices to enrich party favorites and supply Republican voters, it reports, lying "records and reports," and other forms of forgery and rascality familiar to the office, it yet admits that it earnestly solicited an advertiser to let himself be made the victim of these frauds and furnish a proof of his inability to detect them.

It is evident that while the Republic has not enough character to be decent, it has not sense enough to be successful in rascality. Its attempt to cheat the advertisers into a belief that they get value for their money will not be aided by its avowal that it is able to cheat them in any effort to find out what its circulation is, and will only strengthen the impression that it is forced to resort to rascality because an honest statement would be fatal.

HE LEFT CHICAGO.

By way of rebutting the charge that Chicago is an excessively materialistic town, whose people are absorbed in the pursuit of the mighty dollar, a Chicago paper tells of a former citizen who has settled down in Jerusalem and is now spending there in deeds of Christian charity the fortune he acquired in Chicago.

But no such conversion is recorded of any man remaining in Chicago this man's example in changing his residence as soon as he thought of reforming and turning his attention to spiritual things and good works instead of money-getting, is strong testimony in support of the charge against the town. In seeking a new environment, to make a better man of himself, to atone for his Chicago life and purge away its wickedness, he evidently concluded that he must spend the rest of his days in a city sanctified by the most venerable and hallowed associations and that on reaching the next world it would be much easier to register from Jerusalem than from Chicago.

His head was level and his example commendable as pointing out to "Old Hutch" and the rest of the Chicago boys the only path of escape for them. They might get through safe by way of St. Louis, but as their surplus of spiritual grace is subject at times to heavy home drafts, and might not be sufficient for the redemption of Chicago, we urge them to try the Jerusalem route by all means.

PRESIDENT HARRISON still clings to his cheap coat argument. In his letter to the Western Commercial Congress he remarks: "A coat may be too cheap as well as torn." If the price of corn could be raised to an artificial basis by some device or by discriminating legislation, and the price of coats were fixed by the free competition of coat makers all over the world, there is no doubt that the coat would be too cheap for the manufacturer, but the reverse is true and the complaint of the farmers is that they have to sell their products at low free competition prices and buy their clothing and other necessities at high prices created by discriminating tariff laws. The President's intellect does not appear to be able to grasp the fact that cheapness is a purely relative matter and that the low price of an article really makes no difference to the producer if other articles were low in proportion. Hence he is using an economical argument which would be discreditable to a schoolboy.

A BILL has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature providing for the preparation of a manual of ethics for use in the public schools of the State. Some measure of this kind is desirable to cover a branch of education which is largely neglected in the public schools, because of the controversy between those who insist upon having religious instruction and those who are opposed to any religious instruction in them on the ground that it would be impossible to prevent sectarian influences from creeping in. Aside from any and all forms of religious belief there are clear principles of morality and of right conduct in citizenship, business and all relations of life which should be impressed upon the minds of children. Careful instruction in them is an important form of education which the schools cannot obtain outside of the schools.

THE Pacific Mail Steamship Co. will, of course, be the chief beneficiary of the postal subsidy. The principal purpose of the bill "To provide ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports, and to promote commerce," was to carry out an anti-election contract with GOULD and HUNTINGTON. The Gould and Huntington roads maintain those steamships at great expense to prevent ocean competition on the purpose of the subsidy is not to promote commerce but to relieve those roads of a part of the expense of suppressing competition and keeping rates up to the watered stock notch.

A YEAR ago the Republic made a careful house-to-house canvass of the city. The point-de-view of the Post-Dispatch at that time was about 15,000 copies. Republic, if the Republic refers to our carriers' circulation in the city of St. Louis its canvass came within about two thousand of the exact figures, which is nearer the truth than we have ever known the Republic to be. Our canvass at the same time gave the Republic about 8,000 circulation. Since then the reduction to 15 cents a week has brought our carriers' circulation up to nearly 25,000 and reduced the Republic's to 6,000, as would be shown by an examination of the books.

THE money which has been expended under Republican administrations ostensibly for the repair of old bulks which cannot be made seaworthy or fit for warfare, and which have actually gone to enrich party favorites and supply Republican voters, would have built a navy of fair size and efficiency. The thorough reform of methods hitherto in vogue in the naval department is as necessary to the securing of an efficient navy as congressional appropriations for the purpose.

THE principle of business government as opposed to spoils and boodle government is growing steadily in national as well as municipal politics. The recent extensions of the civil service law to the Indian schools and the navy yards are cheering signs of the ultimate triumph of a reform which would substitute fitness and merit for partisan service and influence as the governing considerations in the choice of public officials.

DEADLINE COMES.

From the Springfield Republican.
The census bulletins giving the population of the several States by counties show that nearly all the older settled Northern States have been experiencing a remarkable shifting of population, such as has been so noticeable in New England. Some 20 of the 40 counties of New York have suffered a decline since 1880. In Ohio 20 of the 80 counties have been losing ground while the State as a whole has largely gained; Indiana has 25 counties with the same experience; 30 counties of Illinois lost while the State as a whole gained greatly in population; in Iowa no fewer than 27 counties lost. Further North the changes are not so marked. Michigan having 15 declining counties, Wisconsin 16 and Minnesota 6. Missouri lost 16 counties, Kansas 11, South Dakota 6, North Dakota 4, while Ne-

RUDINI'S STATEMENT IN THE ITALIAN CHAMBERS TO-DAY.

Secretary Blaine's Reply to the Premier's Last Note—The Whole Case Stated—An Interesting Interview Between Minister Foster and Count d'Arco—Vigorous English—Sentiment in Rome.

ROME, April 16.—The Marquis di Rudini in the Chamber of Deputies to-day was questioned in regard to Mr. Blaine's answer to the last communication the United States Secretary of State had received from the Italian Premier on the subject of the New Orleans lynching. The Marquis during the course of his reply to the interrogation said that Italy could not admit the irresponsibility of the United States in regard to the acts of single States of the Union. This was a question, he added, which interests every civilized Government as well as Italy.

In conclusion the Marquis said that he did not fear political difficulty between Italy and the United States, but that it was a matter of regret that so highly civilized a country as the United States should not fulfill the duties of justice and morality. The concluding remark of the Marquis di Rudini was greeted with an outburst of general applause.

ROME, April 16.—The Marquis di Rudini in the Chamber of Deputies to-day was questioned in regard to Mr. Blaine's answer to the last communication the United States Secretary of State had received from the Italian Premier on the subject of the New Orleans lynching. The Marquis during the course of his reply to the interrogation said that Italy could not admit the irresponsibility of the United States in regard to the acts of single States of the Union. This was a question, he added, which interests every civilized Government as well as Italy.

In conclusion the Marquis said that he did not fear political difficulty between Italy and the United States, but that it was a matter of regret that so highly civilized a country as the United States should not fulfill the duties of justice and morality. The concluding remark of the Marquis di Rudini was greeted with an outburst of general applause.

NEW YORK, April 16.—A crisis is afoot in the New York Central and Pacific alliance, which was formed a couple of weeks since by the New York Central and the Great Northern, and which has not yet been heard of with respect to that event.

But there are other parties in the alliance besides the head of the New York Central, the Great Northern, the Chicago and North Western, the Milwaukee and St. Paul

ITS DISASTROUS EFFECTS ON OTHER VANDERBILT LINES.

Presidents of These Roads in a State of Mind—Secretary Foster's Order—What Depew Says of It—Projected Route Between North and South American—Railroad News.

New York, April 16.—A crisis seems not far away in the New York Central-Canadian Pacific alliance, which was first described a couple of weeks ago. The path of President Depew and Mr. Foster has not been strewn with roses since that event. He has found out that there are other presidents of Vanderbilt lines besides the head of the New York Central. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew and H. Walter Webb seemed to have had chiefly the interests of the New York Central in mind when they made the alliance with the Canadian Pacific. They did not know what the effect it would have on the Western Vanderbilt lines but they have heard from them since, and a big family row has resulted, and the presidents of the Lake Shore and Michigan Central Cos. have sufficient independence, it is said, to give Mr. Depew a piece of their mind. They protested that the Canadian Pacific would injure them irreparably. It has an entrance into Chicago, over the Western and already it has made a hole in the tonnage of the other lines; while in connection with the New York Central the Canadian road would gain a prestige that would insure it a big share of high class freight.

PARALYZE COMMERCE. When a reporter interviewed Chauncey M. Depew about the matter last week he replied that he did not believe Secretary Foster would think of issuing such an order. "It would paralyze the business of the West and already it has made a hole in the tonnage of the other lines; while in connection with the New York Central the Canadian road would gain a prestige that would insure it a big share of high class freight."

SUNDAY INTERMENTS.

UNDERTAKERS INAGUATE A CRUSADE AGAINST FUNERALS ON THE SABBATH.

A Movement to Discourage the Custom of Holding Bodies For Burial on Sunday—Committees Appointed by the Undertakers' Association.

The Undertakers' Association of this city has inaugurated a crusade against Sunday funerals, and proposes to keep it up until they are stopped entirely or at least reduced to a minimum. At its meeting last evening the association discussed the custom of holding bodies for burial on Sunday, and further action will follow at the next meeting. The association is recorded as a unit, Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia has come openly against Sunday interments, and many other clergymen have done the same. The local association agrees with them and has started out in a practical way to discourage the growing custom. The undertakers say they are entitled to some rest to begin with and do not like the idea of working all day Sunday as well as week days. They assert also that the funeralists are not paid for the funerals on Sunday, and that the funerals on Sunday are a source of loss to the undertakers. They also say that the funerals on Sunday are a source of loss to the undertakers. They also say that the funerals on Sunday are a source of loss to the undertakers.

Great Gains! Great Gains! Mr. Post, here's your chance to get a big gain. We have just received a lot of goods at a big gain. The neighbors are all laughing and saying, "What a big gain!"

My neighbor's plan will change a man from poor to rich in just a minute. From poor to rich in just a minute. From poor to rich in just a minute.

Then lose no heart, let fear depart. Reason to prosper your money. Nature endows you with a mind. Not all depends on kind of friends. But by this plan your trouble ends. By it you truly learn to love.

Naturally all men are poor, but a man is judged by his clothes and fixtures. He is not judged by his pocket. To aid your fortune and prosper. And choose the pretty things you need. No longer will you be poor. You'll live to bless this plan indeed.

Why shouldn't you, when by it you gain comfort and ease? You'll never be poor. Perhaps they would never come. Those who are rich feel poor, call on Trade Mark.

A LOST HOMESTEAD.

An Interesting Case to Be Tried in the Arkansas Courts.

SUIT TO RECOVER PROPERTY IN THE HANDS OF TRUSTEES.

Story of the Imprisonment of United States Marshal J. T. Brown and the Disposition of His Property by Trustees Agents

Claims Put Forward by His Wife and Sisters.

Little Rock, Ark., April 16.—In a few days Judge Henry C. Caldwell will preside over the United States Circuit Court here and will listen to the testimony in one of the most sensational cases that has come under his observation during the quarter of a century's experience on the bench. The case was set for this morning, but His Honor is confined to his residence with an attack of the grippe
and his hearing was temporarily postponed.

It is the case of Hannah M. Anna M. and Sarah B. Brown against D. L. Reeve, J. W.
Beidelman and Samuel Wiggins, trustees for the estate of the late J. T. Brown, Jr. The first named plaintiff is the mother and the last two sisters of the deceased.

J. T. Brown, Jr., was the United States Marshal of this district in 1888, and during the spring term of the court he was charged with the duty of presenting false accounts against the United States and of forgery, for which he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. At the time of his conviction Brown was the possessor of a plantation fourteen miles below Little Rock, on the north side of the river, now valued at $75,000. Brown purchased the property in 1882 from Thomas J.
and assuming certain indebtedness of Scott,
the property was also liable for a mortgage of $12,000, held by Martin J.
Thompson, owners of the Batesville & Brinkley road. Before Brown's conviction the plantation was sold under the decree and was purchased by Reeve, Beidelman and Wiggins, agents for Brown.

After his arrest Brown served his time, Brown of the property to Reeve, Beidelman and Wiggins, as trustees, to manage the plantation and to indemnify any loss he might sustain as sureties on his bond as Marshal. Reeve is an extensive dealer in real estate, Beidelman is a prominent druggist and Wiggins is one of the most extensive planters in the county. In 1888 the trustees of the plantation to John Crook.

In the spring of 1889 Brown was discharged from the Detroit prison. He spent a few months at his former home, but was not enough to follow his hair and beard to grow to the same proportions they were at the time he left Little Rock.

He was full of hope and but little change was noticed in his appearance. His duties at the prison were of a light character. For he was a man of superior business qualifications, his work being altogether of a clerical nature.

He was the Superintendent of the First Presbyterian Sunday School in this city when convicted of forgery, and the first Sunday after his arrival he visited the church, where he met many of his old friends. Some of the members extended him the hand of welcome, others, however, treated him as an outcast. For several days he spent his time making social calls, after which he waited upon the trustees of the plantation. To his amazement he found that the property had been disposed of and that he was a bankrupt. He was informed that the property had been sold to Reeve, Beidelman and Wiggins as agents for Brown. In the district court he sought the transfer of the property. The trustees claim that they bought the property for their own benefit, and sold it to their own friends.

Mrs. Brown and her two daughters now ask that the property be returned to them and that the trustees be made to make a full and complete restitution in the manner in which they managed the estate. The trustees on the other hand claim that the property was sold to them for their own benefit, and that they are entitled to the proceeds of the sale. The case is now pending in the district court, and will be tried in the Arkansas courts.

MORE COMMODIOUS QUARTERS.

Alterations in the Third National Bank Building—State Bank.

The directors of the Third National Bank have decided to make some extensive alterations in the bank building at 418 and 419 street. The contract has been let and work will commence as soon as it is practicable.

The object in making the change is to have the entrance on a level with the sidewalk so as to do away with the stairway leading to the bank. The basement of the building is now occupied by De Wolf & Son, the insurance agents, and it will of course become necessary for them to find other quarters. The floor of the bank will then be taken up and a new and handsome one will be laid out on a plane with the street. The building is expected to be changed without interfering in the least with the business of the bank. The fixtures will be removed to the basement and business transacted there until the work is completed.

A temporary ceiling will be placed directly under the present floor of the bank to prevent any dust or materials from falling on the attaches and others having business with the institution. The present ceiling, which was erected by the late J. T. Brown, Jr., is about twelve feet high when the changes are made, as it is proposed to leave it as it is.

This will insure an ample supply of light and air and add to the comfort of those connected with the bank.

During the past few days it has been reported that the State Bank of St. Louis had practically decided not to take the first floor of the immense structure now in course of erection on the southwest corner of Fourth and Locust streets. This property is owned by several of the stockholders in the State Bank, while the property formerly occupied by the Odd Fellows is owned by the banking institution proper. It was also stated that the bank would replace the Odd Fellows' building with a structure especially designed for the purpose of banking. Speaking in reference to this morning President Charles Parsons said that the management had not reached any such conclusion. Further than this he had nothing to say.

The Coming Hop at the Barnards—The Barnard Season—Returns, Departures and Visitors—General Gossip of Society.

The officers and ladies of Jefferson Barnards have issued invitations to a reception and hop which will take place on Tuesday evening, April 22, at 8 o'clock. Trains will leave Union Depot at 8:30 p. m., returning, will leave the Barnards at 1:30 a. m., and will arrive at Chouteau Avenue Depot at 2 a. m. The committee is composed of the following persons: Capt. W. E. Owen, Jr., Medical Department; Lieut. J. N. Allison, Second Cavalry; Lieut. C. J. Stevens, Ninth Cavalry; Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Jr.; Mrs. J. N. Allison and Mrs. T. J. Lewis. This will be a very delightful and fashionable function, and it is safe to say that there will be but few regrets soon.

The Barnard season is the universal theme of conversation just now in society circles to the exclusion of all other themes. The new tailor-made suit and spring bonnet have diminished in insignificance, and interest is centered in the lovely evening gowns in which beauty will array itself for this festive occasion. Full dress will be the order of the day, or rather evening, and boxes and parquets will be present to doubt the appearance of a flower garden in June. Happy, indeed, is the girl who has captured a beau for any evening, and three happy she who has engaged one for every evening, as have several of the reigning belles and one or two of the handsome widows.

In addition to our own people, who will crowd the Grand Opera-house for the Barnard season, there are several large parties in the city from other points. Mr. and Mrs. Hill arrived this morning from St. Paul, chaperoning a large party. They are quartered at the Southern Hotel. Mrs. Campbell McFarlane is of this party. One of the boxes has been taken for the entire season by Mr. Ewing of Jefferson City and a large party from Springfield will attend on Friday evening. A large party will arrive from Columbia to-day and have seats for the "La Toca" performance to-night.

Though an informal affair, a very delightful program was provided for the entertainment of the guests. The first number, a soprano solo, "Land," was rendered by the hostess, and was followed by a contralto solo by Miss Besse.

No. 3, duo from the fourth act of "Trova-tore," Mrs. Robert Atkinson and Mr. Charles Humphrey. Recitation, "Mary and Martha," Miss Revere. Part II.—No. 1 was a delightful contralto solo by Mrs. Broadbent. No. 2, piano solo, Mrs. Dr. Ford. No. 3, alto solo, Miss Padlock. No. 4, tenor solo, Mr. Charles Humphrey. ## WHAT IS THE GRIP?

This Mysterious and Terrible Disease Carefully Analyzed and Described—What Do You Think of It?

Nearly every physician, every scientist and every sufferer has been asking this great question: What is the Grip? Some have asserted that it is a new disease, others that it is a mild form of influenza, and others that it is a new variety of the common cold. It is a disease which comes into the system, breeds several millions every second, and soon overruns the body with disease. Others have said it is a passing phase of a milder disease, and that the minute particles are drawn into the body with every breath. Whatever it may be, it is certain that it is something within the body which is fighting with the body to undermine the life.

What would common sense dictate in such an emergency? Counteract the enemy. Drive it from the system. Do not trifle with it. Act promptly and wisely as the first approach, which can be readily done. Take something which can counteract its deadly influence. Spirits of some kind are the best thing to take, and whiskey is preferable to any other kind of spirit. It is pure whiskey will have the effect, and it should also be remembered that Dr. J. C. Selzer's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best of the kind, and it is the only medicinal whiskey upon the market.

Scientists have asserted this, the doctors have verified it, and millions of people have proved it. It is a disease which is a very common one, and it is the only medicinal whiskey upon the market. Dr. J. C. Selzer's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best of the kind, and it is the only medicinal whiskey upon the market.
